Desolation Jul 27 2019 Samuel Perlman, the elderly narrator of Yasmina Reza's deliriously dyspeptic novel, is surrounded by happy people. His wife Nancy is thrilled to be a member of the human race. His grown son is content crisscrossing the world to "sample exotic fruit with the savages." But Samuel himself refuses to be happy and his attempt to explain his refusal (half to his son and half to himself) generates an epic, blasphemous, and hilarious rant against the compromises of his life. Whether he is recounting his pal Lionel's heroic battle against impotence; lamenting the loss of his great love, the irresistible Marisa Botton; or pondering the possibility of a new love in the person of one Genevieve Abramowitz, the droll, irascible Perlman is one of the great talkers of contemporary fiction. And Desolation is one of the most dazzling performances ever written for one voice.

The Life of Christopher Columbus Oct 22 2021 John Stevens Cabot Abbott (September 19, 1805 - June 17, 1877), an American historian, pastor, and pedagogical writer, was born in Brunswick, Maine to Jacob and Betsey Abbott. Early life: He was a brother of Jacob Abbott, and was associated with him in the management of Abbott's Institute, New York City, and in the preparation of his series of brief historical biographies. Dr. Abbott graduated at Bowdoin College in 1825, prepared for the ministry at Andover Theological Seminary, and between 1830 and 1844, when he retired from the ministry in the Congregational Church, preached successively at Worcester, Roxbury and Nantucket, all in Massachusetts. Literary career: Owing to the success of a little work, The Mother at Home, he devoted himself, from 1844 onwards, to literature. He was a voluminous writer of books on Christian ethics, and of popular histories, which were credited with cultivating a popular interest in history. He is best known as the author of the widely popular History of Napoleon Bonaparte (1855), in which the various elements and episodes in Napoleon's career are described. Abbott takes a very favourable view towards his subject throughout. Also among his principal works are: History of the Civil War in America (1863-1866), and The History of Frederick II, Called Frederick the Great (New York, 1871). He also did a forward to a book called Life of Boone by W.M. Bogart, about Daniel Boone in 1876. In general, except that he did not write juvenile fiction, his work in subject and style closely resembles that of his brother, Jacob Abbott... Christopher Columbus (1451 - 20 May 1506) was an Italian explorer, navigator, and colonizer. Born in the Republic of Genoa, under the auspices of the Catholic Monarchs of Spain he completed four voyages across the Atlantic Ocean. Those voyages and his efforts to establish settlements on the island of Hispaniola initiated the permanent European colonization of the New World. At a time when European kingdoms were beginning to establish new trade routes and colonies, motivated by imperialism and economic competition, Columbus proposed to reach the East Indies (South and Southeast Asia) by sailing westward. This eventually received the support of the Spanish Crown, which saw a chance to enter the spice trade with Asia through this new route. During his first voyage in 1492, he reached the New World instead of arriving in Japan as he had intended, landing on an island in the Bahamas archipelago that he named San Salvador. Over the course of three more voyages, he visited the Greater and Lesser Antilles, as well as the Caribbean coast of Venezuela and Central America, claiming all of it for the Crown of Castile. Columbus is the European explorer credited with establishing and documenting routes to the Americas, though he was preceded by the Viking expedition led by Leif Erikson in the 11th century. Moreover, the voyages of Columbus led to the first lasting European contact with the Americas, inaugurating a period of exploration, conquest, and colonization that lasted several centuries. These voyages thus had an enormous effect on the historical development of the modern Western world. He spearheaded the transatlantic slave trade and has been accused by several historians of initiating the genocide of the Hispaniola natives. Columbus himself saw his accomplishments primarily in the light of spreading the Christian religion. Columbus had set course in hopes of finding a western route to the Indies (Asia). He called the inhabitants of the lands that he visited indios (Spanish for "Indians"). His strained relationship with the Spanish crown and its appointed colonial administrators in America led to his arrest and dismissal as governor of the settlements on the island of Hispaniola in 1500, and later to protracted litigation over the benefits that he and his heirs claimed were owed to them by the crown.....

Shadow Side Jul 31 2022 A war raging on for centuries against the nefarious shadow elves that threaten to obliterate the humans. Wiping them out of existence. Dwarves and elves coming to the humans' aid, all three fighting to push the monsters back into their dark territory and save the human race until one of the elves' greatest warriors vanishes... Centuries pass and the war still rages on. During this time, a young boy's dreams come true when he's granted his request to train as a paladin. Now a young man, he struggles to prove himself worthy of the paladin name and fight along his brethren in the war. What's worse? The love of his life has him stuck in the friend zone or the war with the shadow elves, who now have human followers, that seek to end those who won't follow? A tough choice for Virgil who only wishes for acceptance and a chance to help end this war.

Christopher Of The Lake Jan 25 2022 Like a menacing shadow, the Queens demonic hordes oozed over the land once the destruction of her brother's army left the countryside vulnerable to invasion. As rumors of the decisive victory began to drift back from the battlefield, the queen became more and more confident that her evil master would soon make her a goddess among men. However, when a late arriving courier brought tidings that the young prince had escaped the slaughter, the unexpected and unwelcome news so angered her majesty that she sent the unfortunate messenger to the gallows. Still, she was certain, that her isolated and unguarded brother could not long elude her vicious mercenary's vengeful grasp. On a dark and bloody battlefield, surrounded by his dead and dying army, a solitary knight contemplated the fickle nature of faith. His gloomy thoughts were interrupted by a ghostly voice that reminded him of his obligation to his fallen comrades and to his long-suffering people. Ashamed, the knight swore an oath, that he would avenge his loyal followers and lift his subjugated nation from under his evil sister's oppressive rule.

Thicket of Thought Nov 30 2019 Thicket of Thought is the telling of the tragedy of wrongful conviction. Truth must be valued. To not do so is to create a void, which is empty of meaning. A chasm that engulfs everyone and everything as it widens. This is an exploration of the profound difference between a search for truth and justice and the persuasive power of society and the media evident in society today. A person, a family, and a community was and can be destroyed by being subjected to erroneous thought and testimony. Confusion hides the truth. The truth that must be witnessed by what we do, think, and say. The brambles blocking clear vision and wisdom must be cleared away.

Desolation (Degeneration Book 2) Jun 29 2022 A year has passed since the biological agent dubbed "PT-12" ravaged the United States of America. The tide of undeath caused by the outbreak has receded, and what remains of society has splintered between those living in FEMA camps and those risking life in a world without walls. Jerri is one young woman living in such a camp, aged beyond her years by what she witnessed during the viral apocalypse and what life in the camps has become. Here in this desolate new world, both her ethics and her will to survive will be tested by the living, the dead, the camp—and beyond.

Desolation Island (Vol. Book 5) (Aubrey/Maturin Novels) Jun 25 2019 "The relationship [between Aubrey and Maturin]...is about the best thing afloat....For Conradian power of description and sheer excitement there is nothing in naval fiction to beat the stern chase as the outgunned Leopard staggers through mountain waves in icy latitudes to escape the Dutch seventy-four." —Stephen Vaughan, Observer Commissioned to rescue Governor Bligh of Bounty fame, Captain Jack Aubrey and his friend and surgeon Stephen Maturin sail the Leopard to Australia with a hold full of convicts. Among them is a beautiful and dangerous spy—and a treacherous disease that decimates the crew. With a Dutch man-of-war to windward, the undermanned, outgunned Leopard sails for her life into the freezing waters of the Antarctic, where, in mountain seas, the Dutchman closes.

Drums of Desolation Oct 02 2022 Surrounded by more than a million Lamanites and Gadianton robbers, Joshua, Harry, Apollus, Meagan, Garth, Steffanie, and many other favorite Tennis Shoes characters brace themselves with the Nephite nation for the promised day of violence and thunder. For four long years, the prophet Mormon has guided his people into making the Hill Cumorah an impregnable fortress against any adversary, but conflict and corruption among the Nephites threatens to undermine all of Mormon's efforts and make everyone—including our characters—vulnerable for disaster.

A Desolation of Learning Jan 01 2020 "Class War" (2002) was Chris Woodhead's verdict on the systemic failures within the British Education system and a bold agenda for reform. "A Desolation of Learning" is a retrospective on the 8 years since he resigned as Chief Inspector of Schools amidst a flurry of controversy over his views on the importance of a strong and politically independent schools inspectorate. - Are our schools any better? - Have standards improved? - What are the key areas he would target for reform today? Woodhead argues that the Labour administration has wrongly shaped expectations and policy based on a misguided and questionable vision of a social utopia and a misguided linking of educational attainment and economic well-being. Political pressure has resulted in the emasculation of organisations like OfSTED and the National College for School Leadership, whose remit is reduced to peddling ministerial enthusiasms. Woodhead argues that we need: 1) independent school headteachers to assert their independence; 2) the Conservative party to find its voice and generate momentum for change; 3) schools to be free of bureaucratic constraint, and parents to be empowered, via the implementation of a voucher scheme, so that a genuine educational market may be established in Britain.

Adventures of a Sunflower Oct 29 2019 "The first time Chris saw Elly, she appeared as a single sunflower standing tall on a lawn of short grass." By professional standards, Christopher Matthew Smith is a gifted, dynamic Madison Avenue adman, a feared but highly respected opponent in the game of advertising. In love, however, he has not fared as well. Twice divorced, Chris has soured on the idea of long-term relationships. Until he meets Elly Flowers, an attractive, unhappily married mother of two. After six months of friendly encounters, the budding love story of Chris and Elly is interrupted by a lengthy geographical separation. Elly grudgingly moves to Southern California with her family while Chris remains in New York. Fourteen years later, the two meet again in San Diego where they enjoy a five-day journey through the romantic sites in and around the city. But their surprising, albeit passionate, reunion is short-lived. The bond between them is tested, emotionally and physically, as each experiences a separate accident with potentially disastrous results, Chris on a fishing excursion, Elly, in her auto near the Pacific bluffs of La Jolla. Attempting to endure such crises challenges the integrity of the relationship between Chris and Elly. Adventures of a Sunflower is a moving account of two extraordinary people determined to spend their lifetime together.

Tragedy and Trauma in the Plays of Christopher Marlowe Aug 08 2020 Contending that criticism of Marlowe's plays has been limited by humanist conceptions of tragedy, this book engages with trauma theory, especially psychoanalytic trauma theory, to offer a fresh critical perspective within which to make sense of the tension in Marlowe's plays between the tragic and the traumatic. The author argues that tragedies are trauma narratives, narratives of wounding; however, in Marlowe's plays, a traumatic aesthetics disrupts the closure that tragedy seeks to enact. Martin's fresh reading of Massacre at Paris, which is often dismissed by critics as a bad tragedy, presents the play as deliberately breaking the conventions of the tragic genre in order to enact a traumatic aesthetics that pulls its audience into one of the early modern period's most notorious collective traumatic events, the massacre of French Huguenots in Paris in 1572. The chapters on Marlowe's six other plays similarly argue that throughout Marlowe's drama tragedy is held in tension with-and disrupted by-the aesthetics of trauma.

Christopher Lee and Peter Cushing and Horror Cinema Jul 19 2021 From their first pairing in Hamlet (1948) to House of the Long Shadows (1983), British film stars Christopher Lee and Peter Cushing forged perhaps the most successful collaboration in horror film history. In its revised and expanded second edition, this volume examines their 22 movie team-ups, with critical commentary, complete cast and credits, production information, details on cinematography and make-up, exhibition history and box-office figures. A wealth of background about Hammer, Amicus and other production companies is provided, along with more than 100 illustrations. Lee and Cushing describe particulars of their partnership in original interviews. Exclusive interviews with Robert Bloch, Hazel Court and nearly fifty other actors, directors and others who worked on the Lee-Cushing films are included.
